BIOLOGICALS FOR NUTRIENT AVAILABILITY

QuickRoots® inoculant for canola, corn, field pea, lentil, small grains and soybean can improve nutrient availability and uptake. The Bacillus amyloliquefaciens and Trichoderma virens based treatment helps increase availability and uptake of nitrogen, phosphate and potassium. Its ability to release nutrients from the soil helps maximize the effectiveness of your inputs and improve your yield potential.

By growing directly on your crop's roots, QuickRoots works to improve nutrient availability and uptake. The microbial inoculant performs in a variety of soil conditions and types (including soils low in phosphate availability). This can enable optimal plant growth and increased yield potential.
